ALERT: Creative Washtenaw Aid ALMOST GONE!

Funds raised directly assist artists and creatives who live, work, go to school or have businesses located in Washtenaw County.

Please make a Contribution TODAY!

Thank you to those who have recently replenished our dwindling Creative Washtenaw Aid fund. What was once $100,000 is no more, yet the need for funds continues to increase! Won't you consider a contribution today, to help us build back this reserve?

April's Audience Outlook Monitor, paints a tentatively hopeful picture for reopening, yet, many patrons are selective about which events to attend, based on mask policy and proof of vaccination. Most indicators of readiness to return held steady or regressed a bit between March and April. The takeaways below outline forecasted trends in the weeks ahead:

Read the April 25 Executive Briefing and while you're reading, please contribute to CW Aid!

Apply for Creative Washtenaw Aid

Give to Creative Washtenaw Aid

How has your cultural diet changed? Examining temporary shifts vs. long-term trends

- Attending fewer events in general - being more 'selective' and seeing only what they really want to see
- Selectively attending events with mask and proof of vaccine requirements
- Fewer people to go out with - i.e., fewer people who are comfortable with large crowds
- Not going back to movie theatres, even if they are comfortable in concert halls and theatres
- Given up on subscriptions and now attending on a single ticket basis
- Some said they are 'hungry' and 'starved' and are actually attending more often than pre-pandemic

A Note on Grants: DUNS to UEI

Review Michigan Arts and Culture Council's Guide here.

SAM Registration - Update Regarding the transition from DUNS to UEI

Previously, a Duns and Bradstreet Data Universal Numbering System (DUNS) number was required by the federal government to register your organization with SAM.

On April 4, 2022, the federal government switched from using the DUNS number to a new Unique Entity Identifier, also known as a "UEI." The UEI is a 12-character alpha numeric value that will be assigned by SAM for free.

Organizations without a SAM registration:

- On or after April 4, 2022: You will be assigned a UEI by SAM as part of SAM's registration process. You will no longer need a DUNS number to register with SAM.
- Go to SAM Entity Registration to get started.

Organizations already registered with SAM:

- A UEI will automatically be assigned to your organization by SAM. The UEI will be visible in your organization's SAM record.
- If you have difficulty locating the UEI, contact SAM at 1-866-606-8220 or see the help section of SAM's website.
